Weathervanes

As Time Goes By produce a range of standard weathervanes specifically designed to fit our roof turrets. We also specialise in the manufacture of custom weathervanes laser cut from various metals. Our Weathervanes are cut from 4mm thick aluminium which are then acid etched primed prior to polyester powder coating for extreme weather protection. Alternatively they can be cut from stainless steel for a polished finish to create that modern contemporary feature. All our weathervanes ride on a stainless steel rod complete with 2 bearings to ensure free and silent rotation. Various fixing kits are available to allow the weathervane to be installed in most situations.
